

Click to Print

SAVE THIS | EMAIL THIS | Close

Business Briefs for March 18, 2007

Published: Mar 18, 2007

News and notes from area businesses.

RV dealer moves

Fun Time RV has moved to 12672 Florida Blvd., the former location of Acura Infiniti.

The new, larger location includes an indoor showroom, a parts and accessory store and 23 service bays.

Fun Time RV, owned and operated by Tom Sanders and I.P. Daniels, is dealer for Rockwood trailers, fifth wheels and pop-ups; Sun-Lite truck campers; Luxury fifth wheels and Timberlodge, Riverside, Summit Ridge and Wrangler campers.

For more information, call (225) 275-1003.

Job-college seminar

A college/career-coaching seminar for adults will be held 4 p.m.-6 p.m. Tuesday in the Broadmoor High School library.

The event is sponsored by Career Compass of LA, an educational nonprofit, in partnership with the Baton Rouge Area Chamber.

Representatives will work one-on-one with participants, providing information on post-secondary schools and assisting in resumé writing.

Insurance campaign

Health Access America, a national campaign supported by the Healthcare Leadership Council, is making an effort to link Baton Rouge's uninsured with insurance coverage.

A nonpartisan, nonprofit organization, the HAA is seeking to partner with local organizations and businesses to create awareness on the rising number of uninsured individuals and maximize insurance enrollment.

For more information, contact HAA's Baton Rouge office at (225) 921-6711.

BREC job fair